Hundreds Draw Trio-Quoto Big Pay At Centennial B. W. Theatre Anniversaries

The list of persons who have been fortunate enough to draw the "big pay" envelopes at the Bookers Washington Theatre on Mondays and Thursdays is growing lengthy. Everyone who attends on these nights receives a pay envelope containing either Eagle Trading Stamps in lots of 40 cents to $40; cash from one cent to $5, or a ticket of admission. Everybody gets something in their envelope. This is a profit sharing plan that has made good at Mr. Turpin's popular theatre. All who receive stamps in large numbers or $5 bills are requested to give their names and address into the box office or to one of the ushers. Stamp books can be had by applying at the office for publicity.

The following list includes about one-fourth of the more fortunate patrons. No record has been kept of the several hundred who have received dollars, halves, quarters, etc.

GALA SPECTACLE AT OPENING OF CHARITY CARNIVAL

Orphans' Home, Old Folks' Home, Societies and Churches Reap Big Harvest. Two Professional Clowns Amuse Immense Crowd.

Several hundred people attended the opening of the Charity Carnival and Street-Fair Bazaar Monday night. Concessioners were busy dispensing with their goods as the busy throng was continually passing their doors. The Orphans' Home, the Old Folks' Home, the churches and societies were much in evidence at the opening. Other attractions are the famous Harvel's Automaton. Two professional clowns keep the children laughing, furnishing amusement for old and young. The acrobat acts are good. All free. It costs nothing extra to see them. The grandstand is cleared at a late hour and while the band plays "Home, Sweet Home," those who so desire may indulge in the two top and their favorite dances.

The merry-go-round, the trapeze, dodging ducks, and the animal circus. Plenty of fun was ushered in with the opening and it is expected that large crowds will continue until the close.

GRANDFATHER LAWS ADJULLED BY SUPREME COURT

Holds Election Officials Could Be Held Amenable to Law for Seeking to Enforce Oklahoma and Maryland Clauses.

Washington, June 21.—In a decision so broad as probably to annul "grandfather" enactments in every Southern state which has adopted such laws, the Supreme Court today unanimously held invalid Oklahoma and Maryland legislation aimed at restricting the Negro vote.

The decision was that it is a violation of the Fifteenth Amendment to the national Constitution for a state to select arbitrarily a date, such as 1866, and provide that persons not qualified to vote on that date or whose ancestors were not so qualified are barred from voting, or must submit to a voting test not required of others.

The Court further held that election officials who sought to enforce such clauses could be held amenable to law for denying persons a right to vote and that such officials could not disregard the fact that the Fifteenth Amendment had stricken out of the state law the word "white" as a qualification of voting.

The Court held that Oklahoma had not meant to provide a literary test for its voters, if the restrictions as to those qualified to vote in 1866 was illegal and hence struck down that test, although holding that standing alone such a test was constitutional.

Property and other tests for voters enacted by the Maryland Legislature for Annapolis in the same act in which the "grandfather" clause was inserted were held to be so closely related to the "grandfather" clause as to make all the qualifications fail.

SERMON TO GRADUATES

Rev. Geo. E. Stevens, pastor of Central Baptist Church, preached a very inspiring sermon to the graduates of the public schools of this city last Sunday. This large church was packed to its doors with a patient audience, who listened to Dr. Stevens preach from the text, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." He advised his hearers to be strong and courageous, despite of the seemingly handicaps, and to press onward in the face of discriminations. "Times are better now than ever before and your opportunities are greater." The choir, under the direction of Mr. Troy Gorum, rendered beautiful music.

Grace at Bethel

By REV. WILLIAM WALLACE KETCHUM
Director of Bethel Welsh Center,
Meadville Institute of Chicago

TEXT—And he dreamed and behold a ladder set on the earth and the top of it reached to heaven: and behold the angels of God ascending and descending on it.—Genesis 28:12

The story which presents itself is an old one. It is that of a life into which God entered—the life of one who was a true representative of man under the curse of sin. Rebekah instructed Jacob to obtain the blessing of Abraham through deceit and the sin which brought its curse. A mother lost both of her sons and Jacob was in the land of the living because of the kindred wrath of Esau, an exile from home. Weary in body and in spirit, he lies down to sleep—alone for his pillow; the vaulted heavens for his canopy. In the darkness of the night, the consciousness of sin steals over him and a guilty conscience gives uneasy rest. He felt that the sin which separated him from his father's home, must separate him from his father's God.

It is at such times, when one is truly awakened to a sense of sin in himself, that God can and will manifest his grace. Jacob had no sense of worthiness; on the contrary, his conscience condemned him as a guilty sinner before God. It was then that God broke open the heavens and out of the depths of love disclosed the ladder of grace which reached the man in need; at its summit God, surrounded by the glory and brightness of heaven; at its base, poor wayward Jacob, shrouded in darkness; and ascending and descending, the angels of God. Is not this a true picture of God's grace as manifested through Christ who is the ladder reaching from God to needy man.

Loved Ones at the Bottom. Years ago, an explosion in a coal mine hurried many souls into eternity. A great crowd gathered, appalled by the terrible calamity. It could not be ascertained who had been killed, or wounded, or who were still exposed alive to the fire which was advancing in every direction. Where was the man willing to imperil his life by descending into the pit? A person of influence succeeded in gaining the attention of the throng, and asked if they were ready to face death by entering the mine. Instantly a number stepped forward. "But," said a Christian, who witnessed the thrilling scene, "I noticed that none volunteered, except those who had loved ones at the bottom."

Just so it was with him, who left the throne of glory and the courts of heaven to come to our relief. What it cost him to make the descent from such a height to such a depth, we shall not fully know throughout eternity, but we know now that he would never have descended, if he had not loved ones at the bottom.

The Word of Grace. God did not leave Jacob, perplexed by the vision, but spoke to him the word of grace: "I am the Lord God of Abraham, thy father . . . the land whereon thou liest, to thee will I give it. And behold I am with thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land, for I will not leave thee until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of." But in the energy of a feeling, fallen man, an "if" obscured the grace at Bethel. It led Jacob to bargain with God and brought sad failure. God asked nothing of Jacob, simply faith; but Jacob said to God, "If you will do so and so . . . then shall the Lord be my God and of all that thou shalt give me, I will surely give a tenth unto thee." So Jacob left Bethel, having accepted God's grace conditionally. Relying partly upon God and partly upon self, he soon lost sight of the grace at Bethel, but amidst all his scheming and planning the God of Bethel never forgot Jacob. Grace that saved, kept him and at last brought him back to Bethel, where grace was accepted fully. Faith took the place of sight and grace won the day.

Salvation by Grace Alone. Today, when grace which saves unconditionally, is accepted conditionally, it brings failure. God has not left us in doubt as to what Christ's suffering on the cross means. He has spoken the word, "And by him all that believe are justified from all things from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses." And God, who exercises perfect grace, meets us just where he met Jacob, out among the hills of sin in the very spot where we find ourselves, like Jacob, guilty, helpless and alone. Have you accepted fully God's gift of grace? Or, like the bargaining Jacob, are you now trusting in God, now in self, now in works, or in faith? If so, the God of all grace meets you and asks you to receive without condition his blessed gift.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. BELLE, Acting Director of Sunday School Course of Moody Bible Institute, Chicago)

LESSON FOR JUNE 27

REVIEW, SECOND QUARTER.

READING LESSON—Psalm 138-74. GOLDEN TEXT—I myself will be the shepherd of my sheep.—Isaiah 44:3.

The approximate time covered by these lessons is from 1901 or 1971 B. C. to 1035 or 1023 B. C., somewhere between 50 and 60 years. The most prominent character is David. He is called the shepherd of his sheep, the king, either as an actor or an author. This fact gives us a center about which to revolve our review. By making assignments in each of the chapters summary of David's life can be presented as follows: Chapter I, Saul's disobedience, and its relation to David. II, The shepherd and boy and Samuel. III, The boy and shepherd. IV, The musician and the king. V, The boy and his friends. VI, The young man in exile. VII, The young man as king. VIII, The king and the ark. IX, The king's great sin. The remaining lessons will make excellent reading matter to be interspersed with the presentation of the various chapters and we may call the whole program "From Obscurity to Power."

An excellent suggestion is made in "Psalms of the Selected Notes," of making a large chart ruled vertically into five columns and horizontally into twelve spaces, one for each lesson. The vertical columns respectively, I, place, characters, intervening events, key verse, and principal teaching. Then have each of the sixty different spaces assigned to classes or to individuals who will each in turn, beginning at the upper left hand corner with lesson one, fill in the different spaces in order until the whole chart is covered. If a blackboard used these facts can be written within the different squares, otherwise cards must be taken to have the facts written up on previously prepared pieces of cardboard, or paper, each to correspond to the dimensions of the various squares on the large chart. As in the case of the chapter review, previous suggested, Lessons III, XI and XII, being from the Psalms, may be read and no further attention be given to them so far as the chart is concerned. For the younger classes a good story teller can give a running story of the lessons which will prove highly interesting. To drill the school or the separate classes on some of the outstanding facts of the books of First and Second Samuel and the Psalms will prove a profitable review of time. Illustration: Who are the heroes of First Samuel? Of Second Samuel? What chief events in the life of David are recorded in First Samuel? In Second Samuel? Where is the record of David and Goliath?

If a running commentary is desired the following suggestions may help. Lesson I. Saul is set aside, hence the need of David, "a man after God's own heart."

Lesson II. Samuel's choice set aside and David the youngest son is selected to be king.

Lesson III. The wonderful shepherd psalm which is a "testimony" of David the shepherd king. (Have the school recite it in concert.)

Lesson IV. A venture of faith, Jehovah's watch care over David, and the downfall of a mighty foe.

Lesson V. Saul's vain attempt to slay David. The development of hatred, the protecting care over those who put their trust in Jehovah.

Lesson VI. The love of David and Jonathan, an illustration of the surrendered life and a type of the love for us of the one who has said, "Henceforth I call you not servants but friends."

Lesson VII. David's generosity to his persistent persecutor. David did not do to Saul what Saul tried to do to David. Though selected to become the king, David recognized in Saul one of God's chosen men and patiently bided his time till God should remove this recreant, disobedient servant and place him in the position of power.

Lesson VIII. David's eagerness to be king, first over Judah and later over the entire nation. Also the record of his shrewd manner of making friends with all of the tribes of Israel.

Lesson IX. David established Jerusalem as the center of the nation. His joy in worship and in God's service points forward to our "chief shepherd."

Lesson X. David was after all only human. In the midst of his life luxury he succumbed to the allurement of temptation and committed an awful sin, an act that involved many others and made the sun itself seem fearful to behold. How are the mighty fallen! The higher they are the harder the fall.

Let this part of the review consist of reading the psalms with but little, preferably no, comment.

If it has gone before has been prayerfully and actively presented, comment on these two lessons is needless.

They so clearly and cogently connect themselves with David's life as to leave little more to be said, and the review will end with the psalmist's note of prayerfulness and his trust in Jehovah, the testimony of his personal knowledge and experience.

The Secret of a Good Figure often lies in the hair. Hundreds of thousands of women wear the hair-pulling headbands for the reason that they regard it as necessary to a correct figure. It supports the head and back, and gives the figure the youthful outline which nature decrees.

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILLINOIS

By Geo. C. Anderson

The annual open meeting of the Home Club was a success in every way. The affair was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Hunt, 1841 Bond Ave. The members of the club acted as the hostesses. A very nice program was rendered, after which the members and their guests spent the evening socially. The gay crowd were enjoying themselves. Mrs. Perry announced the engagement of her daughter, Phoebe, to Mr. A. W. E. Bassett, Jr., a lawyer of Hampton, W. Va., which was greatly surprising to those present. Miss Perry is at present a teacher in the city schools.

Several people from East St. Louis attended the funeral of Miss Fronza Stewart, which was held at the Metropolitan Church, St. Louis. Rev. T. W. Wallace preached the funeral. Miss Stewart was a member of the Household of Ruth, and was formerly a teacher in the public schools of East St. Louis.

The colored business men of East St. Louis, and St. Louis, will hold their annual 4th of July celebration this year at Cahokia, Ill. Mr. John W. W. Carmichael is the leading spirit in the affair.

A Mid-Summer Festival was held at St. Paul Baptist Church last Thursday and Friday, under the auspices of the Helping Hand Club. The reporter, Mrs. Chas. Brown, says that the results were excellent. This is one of the many efforts to put St. Louis out of debt and Pastor De Shields is delighted at the results thus far accomplished.

Rev. T. W. Wallace returned Saturday morning from Chicago, where he has been attending the Michigan Conference of the A. M. E. Church. He reports a pleasant stay. The members of St. John A. M. E. Church are rejoicing because Rev. Wallace was returned. The petition asking his return was signed by the mayor, ex-mayor and many more prominent white and colored men. Mrs. M. L. Winbush has succeeded in obtaining a divorce from her husband.

"FATHER OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE U.S.A." "NO. 5"

Benjamin Franklin—"Father of American Democracy"

AMERICA has never produced a greater statesman than Franklin, who was revered by the people second only to Washington. He was a signer of both the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, and his wisdom made the latter a possibility. The great Lord Chatham pronounced him not only an honor to the Anglo-Saxon people, but to human nature. In every capacity of Europe he was a welcome guest, and it was who induced France to lend us ships, men and money during the darkest days of the Revolution. Upon his death Congress ordered a general mourning of a month. In France it was decreed that all members of the national assembly should wear mourning for three days. So long as Americans treasure the Republic and Personal Liberty as the noblest of all human blessings, the fame of Franklin can never perish. Personally he was possessed of robust health; he was a well-shaped man of a wise and merry nature; he had the grace of a Greek philosopher, while his head, his noble bearing and winning personality made him a conspicuous figure in any assemblage of great men. He was a moderate user all his lifetime of Old Madeira and barley-malt brews. It is safe to say that he toasted the New Republic with every great man of Europe and America. Franklin considered his work in building the Constitution his greatest service to posterity. Upon the self-evident declaration of the Constitution of the United States Anheuser-Busch 48 years ago launched their gigantic institution. To-day, wherever Americans go for health, or business, or pleasure, their famed brand name in public favor until 7500 people are constantly employed to keep pace with the ever-increasing demand.

NATIONAL NEGRO PRESS
ASSOCIATION

THE GRANDFATHER CLAUSE

The decision of the United States Supreme Court in holding that the "grandfather clause" in the State Constitutions of Oklahoma and Maryland, is a decision that has been long looked for on the part of the colored people in this country for a number of years. Unlike the decision in the Separate Coach Law, that carried with it a technicality that the offender might escape punishment, this decision is far-reaching and is clear, interpreting the state law as it is enforced—holding that it violates the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

It took a long time to get this case properly before the Supreme Court. It took patience; it took money. The entire Negro race is benefited by this sweeping decision. This should lend courage to us all to fight more for our rights. The right of franchise is the most sacred gift to man by the Constitution and laws of the land. No people living under a constitution, who do not enjoy the equal rights of that constitution, can develop to their highest possibilities as citizens.

Note.—There are many of our rights taken from us every day that we could have by a little patience, a little organization, and a little money.

Nothing is ever settled until it is settled right.

FRANK'S CASE

There never was before, nor is it hardly probable that in all ages to come, will another case come before the American people where the life or death is involved, as was the famous Frank case. Many phases of this case have been given the public by the daily newspapers, and much is said about public opinion, and the question of right and justice have had their say. The courts of Georgia and the Supreme Court of the United States have had their say. Then, as the last resort, the Governor of Georgia issues an executive order commuting the death sentence to life imprisonment. As Governor of the state, he was perfectly within his right. Some have praised him as a strong man, but he looks to us like a "weakling." He is quoted as saying that he did not believe Frank guilty, but did believe that Conley, the Negro scoundrel, is the guilty one. Poor Governor, what poor judgment, or what a pack of inconsistency. We do not believe that there is another man in the state of Georgia, or anywhere else, who knows anything about the general sentiments of the South when it comes to a question of a Negro's word against a white man, believes as this Governor does (if he told the truth). If he would tell the truth further in the case, he would acknowledge that he was not strong enough to overcome the onslaughts of hundreds of thousands of letters and petitions that besieged him daily in Frank's behalf. He spoke of his "conscience," which is the best evidence of his weakness.

We do not say that Frank was guilty, nor do we blame him and his friends for doing all that they could to save his neck from the gallows, for life is sweet to every man, and as long as there is life there is hope; but we do object strenuously against the Governor of Georgia, or anyone else, trying to gain the freedom of Leo Frank by fixing the crime on a poor, helpless, defenseless Negro, because, if there had been the slightest suspicion that Conley had committed that horrible crime, the courts would not have passed on his case, the Supreme Court of the United States would never have heard of it, the Governor would have been too slow with the troops to do any good—it would have been "the people of Georgia."

A strong organized effort to save Leo Frank from the gallows succeeded.

Is there a lesson for the Negro race?

Some of our people are always ready to go to the front, until they are called upon to do some real work for all the people, then they can't be found.

Gambling is bad at its best. Someone is always ready to "tip" off the police when he continues to lose. It is better not to take chances.

"Disturbance of a Nation" is a better name for a photo-play that requires at least forty extra policemen to show the crowd outside while it shows inside. Some cost to a city, eh?

The business men on Market Street are not jealous of the other fellow's success, for we ourselves can't keep from going over towards Market and Compton. We hope the additional attractions of next week will not close us down here entirely.

KANSAS CITY, KAN. GIANTS
COMING SUNDAY

The Kansas City, Kan. Giants, a strong baseball team that has been winning from all the western and southern teams this season, will be here Sunday to play three games with the St. Louis Giants at Kuebler's Park, June 27, 28, 29. This should afford plenty of excitement for the fans.

The series with the West Baden Sprudels proved the most exciting of the season. As we predicted, the fans were held at a high pitch in all the games. Although the Giants won Sunday by the topheavy score of 11 to 3, the game was hard fought and not half so uninteresting as the score indicates.

Monday the Giants won a 4 to 3 game by making 3 runs in the ninth inning. Tuesday, the Sprudels won 7 to 4 in another hot contest. Simpson, one of the Sprudels' ball artists, is a recent graduate of Wilberforce University, with the degree of Bachelor of Science.

The Giants defeated an all-star team, 15 to 5, at the Motordome Wednesday.

GOOD SHOW AT BOOKER WASHINGTON THEATRE

The show at the Booker Washington Theatre this week compares well with the best this house has offered. Frank Foster is a delightful surprise. As a dialect comedian and impersonator he is excellent. His monologue is full of humor and makes a decided hit.

Johnson and Rector sing well. They have a new line of title that leads up on an odd with, climaxed with a song, "When I Leave This World Behind." They close with a neat dance.

Miss Ella Goodloe appears to advantage as a singer. Her songs are presented in an expressive manner and she does considerable dancing. Hunter and Chappell are original in their work. They are good singers and comic. Their horse race dialogue with moving pictures is a strong feature. They are making a hit this week.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Flag But No Constitution

A constitution remains a cry in vain, just so long as its specifications are not violated. History has not, up to the present day, produced a constitution that has ever lived nor will the coming ages produce such a record under present existing conditions on the globe. Citizens of the United States—sons of fathers now at war in the Eastern Hemisphere, point with undue pride to the "composition" designated by their forefathers a constitution, yet each passing day but adds to its blank of fast now over a century old.

Two facts alone have destroyed the life of this constitution. First, a misconception of the terms Negro and Caucasian. Second, the slavery of Colored womanhood by every Colored man in this country.

The term Afro-American may mean equally as well as a "Caucasian" offspring of a Caucasian mother and Caucasian father, the one or the other native of America or Africa.

Each individual, subject to a type of constitution as that of the United States, is responsible for the "life" of such constitution.

The production of Colored commercial industry, factories, etc., both foreign and domestic, for Colored men by Colored men will immediately revive the constitution.
